

“The Painter's Mistake”

by Hailey Dow, copyright 2017

Opening narration:

Mr. Antonio Keene. A forty-three year old painter. He's an odd fellow, for everything he paints finds its to prove itself real. Is it his paint? Or how about paintbrushes? Cursed by getting stolen by an evil enchantress. Cursed for eternity, he's going to take his paintbrushes and paint his path to the twilight zone.

Closing narration:

Closing on Mr. Antonio Keene, living in his own eternal fear. Trapped in his own masterpiece, he will be going out out of business. So why not buy his paint? Or how about his paintbrushes? Cursed for all eternity? Take them, and like Mr. Keene, they will paint you your way, to the Twilight Zone.
