

“Playthings”

copyright 2018 by Michael H. Hanson

Opening narration:

German philosopher Immanuel Kant once said that we can judge the heart of a man by his treatment of animals. For Benny Hardlatch, the newest employee at the Artemis Overnight Pet Kennel, this judgement is put to a very deadly test, with an outcome determined by four-footed peers in a critter courtroom ... in The Twilight Zone.

Closing narration:

In the history of the universe there are small acts of heroism that rarely attract any notice. For a self-proclaimed dog hater, vicious treatment is rewarded with selfless bravery ennobling the hardest heart. Passion play for a two-legged animal, one Benny Hardlatch, a petty man who learns a wise lesson in the nick of time. A fable of furry redemption ...in the Twilight Zone.