Opening narration:

January 3rd, 2145; two extraterrestrials journeying through the cosmos find themselves making a brief pit stop on a backwater planet formerly known as Earth. These aliens are distant observers, carefully making records of events large and small throughout the stars. However, it seems like they are about to get the cold shoulder as they venture into the Twilight Zone.

Closing narration:

Sometimes the truth can send a shiver down your spine. Sometimes it can chill you to the core. Whatever the case may be, our two cosmic visitors will never be the same after their day on Earth, a planet once teeming with life and warmth. A revelation has been frozen into their psyche, a revelation straight from the Twilight Zone.
